

plan approved under Rule 6A-5.030, F.A.C. Results provided to districts will include, at a minimum, the following information:

1. A value-added score for each instructional personnel employee for the current school year for each statewide assessment based on the course(s) that the employee taught which are associated with that statewide assessment
2. An aggregate value-added score for each instructional personnel employee and school administrator in the district, which combines all value-added results for a particular statewide assessment from all courses and assigned students. The aggregate value-added score provided by the Department is limited to the three most recent years of data.
3. The standard error for each value-added score.
4. Performance Level Standards (criterion for use in instructional and administrator personnel evaluations for each specific performance level).

As described above, the Florida Department of Education will be providing each school district with value-added scores for instructional personnel. The school district will, in turn, release this information to the charter locations. Each charter school will decide which student growth data will be used and what cut scores will be employed to generate the employees' annual performance ratings. The Florida Department of Education (FLDOE) has communicated to the Florida Consortium of Public Charter Schools that FLDOE will be providing technical assistance to charter schools (that are not adopting their school district's evaluation plan) in aggregating the instructional practices scores and the VAM scores to calculate the annual performance ratings for classroom teachers and other instructional personnel. The instructional practices score and Value Added Model (VAM) score will be weighted according to the criteria established by the charter school. The aggregated scores will be used to generate a final performance evaluation rating of Highly Effective, Effective, Needs Improvement/Developing, or Unsatisfactory for all instructional personnel.

Roster Verification Process

The Florida Department of Education will provide an online roster verification application to allow district personnel, school level personnel, and instructional personnel the ability to view class rosters for accuracy and correct mistakes relating to the assignment of students to teachers.

G. PROCESSES AND PROCEDURES FOR IMPLEMENTING THE EVALUATION SYSTEM FOR INSTRUCTIONAL PERSONNEL

A meaningful and productive personnel evaluation system addresses the unique contributions of each employee to the achievement of the school's vision, mission and core values. Additionally, the evaluation system focuses on opportunities for professional growth by employees so that each can grow professionally and contribute in a productive fashion to school improvement plans and goals.

The site administrator is responsible for facilitating the instructional employee evaluation process. The administrator has the overall responsibility for collecting and maintaining documentation, scheduling evaluation-related meetings, providing feedback on performance throughout the year, making summative ratings, and submitting documentation to the appropriate district office.

An administrator evaluates instructional employees on their performance based on a set of domains and indicators. The administrator collects data on the employee's performance related to the indicators throughout the year in a variety of ways. FCPCS has developed classroom walk-through tools to assist school-site administrators in gathering evidence and providing meaningful feedback to teachers throughout the year. Statutorily, instructional personnel must be evaluated a minimum of once a year; newly hired instructional personnel need to be evaluated a minimum of twice a year. A required formal observation is a minimum of twenty (20) consecutive minutes. Where appropriate, the observation could last longer. Additionally, more than the minimum number of required observations may occur, as appropriate. The FCPCS evaluation tools are used to provide targeted feedback on the professional's work relating to the performance indicators. During the post-observation meeting, the employee and the evaluator will discuss the observation. No final performance ratings are given during the post-observation meeting, as evaluators use multiple data sources to determine summative performance ratings.

Observations and feedback may be formal and informal, or scheduled and unscheduled. Walk-throughs, meetings, and examinations of materials that reflect the employee's work, or the impact of their work on others with regard to indicators on the evaluation system, are other forms of gathering evidence on an employee's performance. Administrators must provide meaningful and timely feedback to employees following formal and informal observations. Instructional personnel are evaluated on the performance indicators using the performance evaluation rubrics developed by FCPCS to distinguish among proficiency levels or classify performance. The performance rubrics guide assessors in assessing how well an indicator is demonstrated. They are provided to increase reliability among assessors and to help instructional personnel to focus on ways to enhance their professional practice.

If an employee is not performing his/her duties in a satisfactory manner, the evaluator shall notify the employee in writing of such determination. Upon delivery of a notice of unsatisfactory performance, the evaluator must confer with the employee, make recommendations with respect to specific areas of unsatisfactory performance, and provide assistance in helping to correct deficiencies within a prescribed period of time.

Florida Consortium of Public Charter Schools Charter School Classroom Teacher Evaluation

Instructions:

The FCPCS Charter School Classroom Teacher Evaluation is a performance evaluation system for classroom teachers that is aligned to the six Florida Educator Accomplished Practices (FEAPs), State Board of Education Rule 6A-5.065. When administering the evaluation, the school administrator should enter the appropriate rating to the right, based on evidence collected over the designated period of time. Each domain will have a total rating. At the completion of the evaluation, a total rating based on all indicators will be calculated. Per Senate Bill 736, fifty percent (50%) of a teacher's annual performance rating will be based on criteria measured through the teacher evaluation instrument.

RATING SCALE: Highly Effective = 4 Effective = 3 Needs Improvement/Developing = 2 Unsatisfactory = 1

Definitions of the Rating Scale:

- Highly Effective: There is consistent evidence that the teacher is demonstrating the identified teacher competencies.
- Effective: The teacher is demonstrating the identified teacher competencies most of the time.
- Needs Improvement or Developing ("Developing" rating is for teachers in their first three years only.) The teacher is inconsistent in demonstrating the identified teacher competencies.
- Unsatisfactory: There is little or no evidence that a teacher is demonstrating the identified teacher competencies.

Demonstrates the importance of understanding students' backgrounds, cultures, skills, language proficiency, interests and/or special needs, and attains this knowledge for the class as a whole. Activities, assignments, materials and groupings of students are partially appropriate to the instructional outcomes or students' cultures or levels of understanding, resulting in moderate intellectual engagement. Lessons have a recognizable structure, but that structure is not fully maintained. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Lesson plans and practice reflect solid knowledge of the content, prerequisite relationships between important concepts and the instructional practices specific to that discipline. Actively seeks knowledge of students' backgrounds, cultures, skills, language proficiency, interests and/or special needs, and attains this knowledge for groups of students. Activities, assignments, materials and groupings of students are fully appropriate for the instructional outcomes and students' cultures and levels of understanding. All students are engaged in work of a high level of rigor. Lesson structure is coherent, with an appropriate pace. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Lesson plans and practice reflect extensive knowledge of the content and the structure of the discipline. The teacher actively builds on the knowledge of prerequisites and misconceptions when describing instruction or seeking causes for student misunderstanding. The teacher actively seeks knowledge of students' backgrounds, cultures, skills, language proficiency, interests and/or special needs from a variety of sources, and attains this knowledge for individual students. Throughout the lesson students are highly engaged in significant learning and make material contributions to the activities and in student groupings. Lessons are adapted as necessary to the meet individual needs, and the structure and pacing allow for student reflection and closure.

C. Instructional Delivery and Facilitation
C.6 Employs higher-order questioning techniques and resources, including technology, to provide comprehensive instruction.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Questions are low-level or inappropriate, eliciting limited student participation and recitation rather than discussion. Teacher is unfamiliar with the technological resources to maximize student learning. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Some questions elicit a thoughtful response, but most are low-level and posed in rapid succession. Attempts to engage all students in the discussion are only partially successful. Utilizes technology in the classroom but with minimal understanding of how to integrate to enrich the learning experience. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Questions elicit a thoughtful response and sufficient time is provided for students to answer. All students participate in the discussion, with the teacher stepping aside when appropriate. Integrates technology in the curriculum to enhance learning. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Questions reflect high expectations and are culturally and developmentally appropriate. Students formulate many of the high-level questions and ensure that all voices are heard. Integrates technology in the curriculum to maximize the learning experience, engage learners and introduce them to the limitless possibilities of rich and robust content to develop skills for the 21st Century.

D. Assessment
D.1 Analyzes and applies data from multiple assessments and measures to diagnose students' learning needs, informs instruction based on those needs and drives the learning process.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Assessment is not used in instruction, either through monitoring of progress, or through teacher or students, or through feedback to students. Students are unaware of the assessment criteria used to evaluate their work. There is no evidence that data is used as a diagnostic tool to determine the effectiveness of instruction. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Assessment is occasionally used in instruction through some monitoring of learning progress by the teacher or students. Student feedback is inconsistent, and students are aware of only some of the assessment criteria used to evaluate their work. There is only minimal evidence that data is used as a diagnostic tool and to determine the effectiveness of instruction. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Assessment is regularly used in instruction, through self-assessment by students, monitoring of progress of learning by the teacher or students and high-quality feedback to students. Students are fully aware of the assessment criteria used to evaluate their work. Utilizes multiple assessments to determine individual students' strengths and weaknesses; uses the information to drive instruction. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Consistently maintains and uses multiple ongoing informal and formal assessments to monitor the learning process and diagnose individual student needs. Maintains and uses data to reflect and move beyond grading to modify instructional practices and materials to enhance the learning of all students.
D.2 Designs and aligns formative and summative assessments that match learning objectives and lead to mastery.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Lacks knowledge in the appropriate selection of assessments based on students' varying development stages. Seldom collects data prior to instruction. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Uses limited types of assessments without consideration for students' different needs. Collects summative data and some informal data prior to instruction. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Uses a variety of constructed responses, performance tasks or questioning strategies with appropriate feedback provided to the students. The assessment plan provides a sufficient body of evidence about students that is valid, credible information. Collects data on student learning prior to instruction. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Utilizes a variety of constructed response, performance tasks or questioning strategies with frequent and specific feedback provided to students. Assessment plan provides a sufficient body of evidence about the students' growth that is valid, credible information from which generalizations about student growth can be made. Collects multiple types of student data prior to instruction.

D. Assessment
D.3 Uses a variety of assessment tools to monitor student progress, achievement and learning gains.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Plans for monitoring student progress through assessments contain no clear criteria or standards, are poorly aligned with the instructional outcomes, or are inappropriate for many students. The results of assessments have minimal impact on the design of future instruction. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Plans for monitoring student progress through assessments are partially aligned with the instructional outcomes, without clear criteria, and are not appropriate for all students. The teacher intends to use assessment results to plan for future instruction for the class as a whole. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Plans for monitoring student progress through assessment are aligned with instructional outcomes, use clear criteria, and are appropriate to the needs of students. The teacher intends to use assessment results to plan for future instruction for groups of students. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Plans for monitoring student progress through assessments that are fully aligned with instructional outcomes. Teacher uses clear criteria and standards that show evidence of student learning. Assessment methodologies are adapted for individual students, and the teacher uses results to plan future instruction for individual students.
D.4 Modifies assessments and testing conditions to accommodate learning styles and varying levels of knowledge.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The teacher has not demonstrated that assessments and testing conditions will be adjusted to address the individual needs of students at varying levels. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The teacher demonstrates a minimal understanding of assessment modifications and testing accommodations for varying levels of learners. Modifications and accommodations are not sufficient to meet the needs of all students. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The teacher promotes the successful learning of all students, making assessment modifications based on varying levels of knowledge and understanding. Modifications and accommodations are sufficient to meet the needs of the group. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The teacher seizes an opportunity to assess student progress with a range of assessments that can be modified to address varying levels of knowledge and learning styles. Modifications and accommodations meet the needs of all individual students.
